MENTAL HEALTH STRATEGIES

Proposals should employ at least one of the three strategies outlined in the request for proposal.

WHAT'S NEW in 2018

Introducing Indicators

- HCF has developed a list of short-term outcome indicators.
- In this year's proposal, applicants should identify indicators that align with the applicant's selected theory of change strategy and outcomes.
- A full list of indicators is on our website at hcfgkc.org/mental-health/

The screenshot displays the Health Care Foundation website's 'FDG Application Process' page. The header includes the organization's logo, name, and social media icons. A navigation menu features 'ABOUT', 'GRANTEES AND APPLICANTS', and 'MEDIA'. The main content area is titled 'FDG Application Process' and includes a sub-section 'Application Process' with a list of seven steps. A sidebar on the right contains several links: 'What We Fund', 'Before You Apply', 'Deadlines', 'Application Process', 'ADG Application Process', 'FDG Application Process', 'Grants FAQ', 'Reporting', 'Technical Assistance', 'Research & Resources', and 'Calculators'. Below the main text, there are links for 'Application tips from outside reviewers' and 'Excellent budget & justification sample'. At the bottom, there are tabs for 'Mental Health', 'Healthy Communities', and 'Safety Net', with a highlighted section for 'NEW Download the mental health theory of change' containing a list of instructions for Stage 1.

ABOUT GRANTEES AND APPLICANTS MEDIA

FDG Application Process

Application Process

The application process for Foundation Defined Grants has seven steps:

1. HCF issues a Request for Proposal (RFP) setting forth the grant priorities.
2. Potential applicants attend a pre-proposal conference hosted by HCF. The pre-proposal conference is an opportunity to ask questions, receive clarification, and network with other applicants.
3. Interested organizations submit a letter of intent.
4. Interested organizations submit an application.
5. HCF staff and outside reviewers review the applications for completeness.
6. The HCF Board of Directors approves the grant awards for the funding cycle.
7. Awardees will be notified of their funding by letter, by visiting the HCF website, or signing up for our press release email list.
